Foreword

It has been our aim to keep alive the pleasant memories and hallowed friendships of our high school life by means of our ever resounding "Echo."

We have rapidly grown to an understanding of the language and customs of our "Brother Americans" to the south of us. The Spanish edition leaves to our permanent possession color and atmosphere which our school work has created.

History of the Class of 1930

As Freshmen, under the kindly guidance of Mr. Rinehart, we showed our first symptoms of good taste and gray matter by choosing Clara Pen-nock as our president. We were fifty in number then and took part in many activities. A member of our class won the County Declamatory Contest.

Again, in our Sophomore year, Clara was our president. We gave our first party, a Japanese affair, and proved ourselves worthy of socially entertaining our elders. Mr. Raymond Johnson was our worthy advisor during that year of our dreadful worries.

Mr. Raymond Johnson, in our Junior year, began his reign over us but became ill and Mr. Hatch finished the sentence. "The Bashful Mr. Bobbs" was presented by the class and proved to be very successful. Howard Dent was president of the class the first semester, and Johnny Hovde, the second semester.

We are Seniors now, dignified and sophisticated. Mrs. Murphy, who is our beloved friend and advisor, coached our play "The Whole Town's Talking," a three-act comedy by John Emerson and Anita Loos, and led us safely through all of our difficulties. Our "Harvest Time Party," like all other Senior activities, was a great success.

The Senior Class has been well represented in all school activities. Seniors on the basketball team were: Zach Allen, Ernest Siegrist, Arthur Wiegand, Joe Irby, and Johnny Hovde. Seniors were well represented in girls' athletics and we're proud of the athletic achievement accomplished by Helen Conklin, who has placed on six county all-star teams.

Nine seniors were Torch members, three members of the debate teams were seniors, and the Oratorical Contest on the Constitution was won by Joe Harper, who represented E. H. S. at the county contest March 28, 1930.

We have enjoyed our four years at Edmonds, and are sorry to leave it; so at parting we wish to make one request; Do not Forget Us—the Class of 1930.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Class of 1930, of the Edmonds High School, realizing our immediate departure for unknown fields, have reached the momentous occasion when all possessions, personal or otherwise, must be gathered together and disposed of. Therefore, we now distribute, bestow, award, and bequeath these various possessions, collectively and individually, as follows:

Unto Mrs. Murphy, our undying gratitude for her wise and kindly guidance during our sojourn in the Senior Class.

To Mr. Kellogg, Mr. Milam, and the faculty as a whole, we leave our younger brothers and sisters, upon whom to bestow all knowledge received from teaching us.

To the Juniors, who will take our places, we leave an unexcelled example of a real honest-to-goodness Senior Class, for them to follow.

To the Sophomores, we leave our secret of how we dash to classrooms late, give astounding excuses, and get by without admits.

To the Freshmen we will a formula guaranteed to remove all stains or bright colors (especially green.)

Helen Conklin bequeaths her stateliness and superfluous height to Margaret Scanlon, for Margaret really needs it.

Ruth Bently leaves her typing ability and willingness to type anything for anyone at any time to any first year student.

Tommy Scanlon leaves his boisterousness to Evelyn Treff with hope that she will not be so quiet in the future.

Florence Davis leaves her good frame of mind to the manual training department.

Joe Harper leaves his knowledge of women to Ralph Hildebrand, that he might go through school unmolested by class sirens.

Art Wiegand leaves a number of dusty, and very stiff English text books to the highest bidder.

Pearl Murie, Vesta Yost, and Alice Kronquist leave their good grades to some poor flunking Junior.

Nedra Bacon leaves her red hair and freckles to Myrtle Kjosén.

Zach Allen leaves his ability to score many points in basketball to next year's center.

"Clip" Gillies leaves her smile and pleasing personality to be divided among the Junior lasses.

Mary Alice Drake wills her book "How to Eat Peanuts with a Fork" to Jesselyn Demmons.

Ernest Siegrist leaves his pet name of "Squeek" to Mr. Milam to be transferred to some equally deserving individual.

Joe Irby leaves nothing, because he has nothing to leave, taking everything he can get for nothing.

Beatrice Higley leaves her "come-hither" eyes to Helen Stenbol.

Johnny Hovde leaves his natural curl to the one who hasn't sufficient sums to purchase an artificial one.

Helene Walker bequeaths anything that she forgot to remember to take with her.

Clara and Art Pennock leave their brotherly and sisterly love to Art and Elizabeth Beam.

David Joyce leaves his ability to score highly in the Senior Play to Wayne Perry.

Dorothy Goetz leaves a book "How to be Dignified Though Small" to Nina Greene.

Janice Meyer leaves her giggle to Evelyn Fox.

Marcella Huston leaves her girl scout honors to Deloris Anderson.

Norman Nelson leaves his hammer to quiet the seniors to Miles Hoff.

Dorothea Richardson leaves her loud coat to Barbara Gillies.

Helen Bartlett leaves her neat habits to anyone who needs them.

Helen Siegrist leaves her ability to be a good friend and get acquainted easily to any shy Junior.

Loretta Longmate leaves her baby blue eyes to Helen Howell.

Ralph Schoel leaves his blase air as Roger Shields to Harry Tutmark.

Bill Harries leaves his one single thought to George Law; it is hoped that there is a chance of his profiting by it.

Leroy Longmate leaves a package of well-chewed gum, to be found under his typing desk for Betty Wiggen, who might need it.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF we have set our hand and seal this sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty.

Signature affixed,

(Seal)

Class Prophecy

Ten years have passed since June 6, 1930, when with my thirty-two classmates I took the final degree. Being satisfied with my own accomplishments and having realized my dream of becoming press agent to the famous Letty Lythe, I wondered whether my friends had been as successful as I, so I took a journey back to dear old Edmonds.

And what a changed place it is! At first I did not recognize it, but upon seeing several "Yost" signs I at once felt at home.

I hailed a passing taxi and imagine my surprise when Zach Allen stepped out to assist me. Immediately I began to pump him. How's Vesta? Where's Ruth? Is Tommy still as funny as ever? etc., etc. After Zach's promise to take the day off and show me around, I calmed down and we rode around.

On Fifth Street I spied a giant dressmaking establishment with a beautiful gown in the window and remarked about it. Zach informed me that it was owned by Nedra Bacon and Dorothy Goetz and that the gown was a creation by Catherine Gillies.

Just about that time we passed up a red light and therefore received a yellow ticket. I was worried, but Zach seemed well-at-ease, and no wonder for the presiding judge was Norman Nelson.

By this time it was noon, so Zach said, "Come on home with me for lunch, Helene." Eagerly I accepted, for as you doubtlessly know I am fond of my calories. We arrived at a cute little bungalow—and were greeted by Beatrice Higley—or rather Mrs. Allen. Between bites of a delicious luncheon I learned that Janice Meyer and Tommy Scanlon were married and were the proud parents of a Junior Scanlon. Also that Helen Conklin, Helen Bartlett, and Loretta Longmate were all married.

Luck seemed to be with me for "Beachy" was giving a tea the next afternoon to a few of the girl members of our 1930 class. Ruth Bently, private secretary to Mary Alice Drake, the inventor of the "Mary Alice" Kissproof lipstick; Florence Davis, the wife of Ralph Schoel, the famous novelist; Clara Pennock Lambe, Helen Siegrist, the tennis champion; Pearl Murie, the artist; Vesta Yost, teacher of Spanish at the University of Washington; Janice, Dorothy Goetz, Nedra and "Clip" were among those present. I will try to tell you some of the gossip that they told me.

Beate Gyldenfeldt is in New York starring musical comedy. Bill Harries turned out to be a regular heart-breaker—having married and divorced three wives. Dorothea Richardson is a teacher of dancing in the Fiji Islands. Johnny Hovde had just divorced his wife because she trumped his ace in bridge. Joe Harper is a famous grand opera star in Paris. Marcella Huston is a lecturer on Nature Studies. David Joyce is on the legitimate stage. Arthur Wiegand is a tuberculosis specialist. Alice Kronquist is head nurse at the Orthopedic Hospital. Ernest Siegrist is the Edmonds dog-catcher. Joe Irby is in Congress. Leroy Longmate is owner of a Dog Biscuit Factory and Art Pennock is business manager of the new Edmonds Theatre. Now that I have told you everything of interest about our class of 1930, I must be off.

In the fall of 1925, seventy-five members were enrolled in the Freshmen class. Besides being the largest class to enter the school up to that time, it was the last class to be under the guidance of either Mr. Lyman or Mr. Rinehart, who were the class advisors. Two of the members, Marion Duff and Paul Hatt, won in the girls' and boys' County Declamatory Contest, respectively.

The class had diminished to forty-four members when they became sophomores. Under the guidance of Mrs. Bliss, they gave their first party which was a great success. They were represented in the Post-Intelligencer Flag Contest by Nancy Mason; in the Times Oratorical Contest; and in the County Declamatory Contest. Also, half of the Torch Honor Society was made up of sophomores.

Fifty-four students were enrolled in the Junior Class this year with Mrs. Bliss as class advisor. They gave their party, which had a Christmas motif, on December 21. "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington, was selected as the class play. The class was represented in the operetta, on the basketball and football squads, as well as in the scholastic activities of Torch Society and the Oratorical Contest.

In the school year 1928-1929 there were ninety freshmen enrolled in E. H. S. under the supervision of Mr. Duncan Jacobson and Mr. Warren Bieber.

During 1929-1930 eighty-five sophomores attended school. They were registered under Mr. Warren Bieber and Mr. G. F. Hatch.

During the first semester the sophomores gave a National Book Week Assembly, at which different book-characters were portrayed by members of the class. A fund was raised with which the class bought six books, which they presented to the high school library.

The last semester was devoted chiefly to the Sophomore party and picnic, in addition to certain studies.

The sophomores were represented by twenty-two members in the Torch, making twenty-six per cent of the class.

Five Sophomore girls are represented in the High School Nonette; and Helen Howell, a sophomore, took the leading part in the operetta.

The Girls' Athletic Championship in basketball was also won by the sophomores.

At the beginning of the year, there was a total enrollment of ninety pupils in the Freshmen Class. Mr. Jacobson had charge of one roll room and Mrs. Talbot of the other.

The Freshmen have taken part in various school affairs this year. Ralph Hildebrand and George Bacon made the star basketball and football teams. Many students participated in Declamatory. It has been a successful year for the freshmen, and we owe much appreciation to our teachers who have done their share in making it so.

Spanish Club

"El Circulo de Espanol", which the Spanish Club was christened, was formed by the second year Spanish students. Regular meetings were held at which only Spanish was spoken. Among many other activities, the club presented an assembly in which every member participated. Officers of the club were: President, Mary Drake; treasurer, Don Maxwell; secretary, Louise Heinz.

Science Club

The "Biology Bugs", as the first and second period biology class club was known, was created to stimulate an interest in science. The tracing, study, and collection of plant and animal life was made much more interesting by the influence of the club. The officers of the first period section were: President, Miles Hoff, and secretary, Marion Wiley. In the second period section officers were: President, Mason Roe, and secretary, Eula Crary.

English Clubs

English clubs were formed by three Sophomore English classes. In addition to English work, the clubs united in several affairs. The first was a banquet. The next activity was a National Book Week Assembly, at which admission was charged. The proceeds were used to buy books for the school library. A patriotic meeting in honor of Patriots' Day was also held April 19. Donald Hareid served as chairman of the meetings.

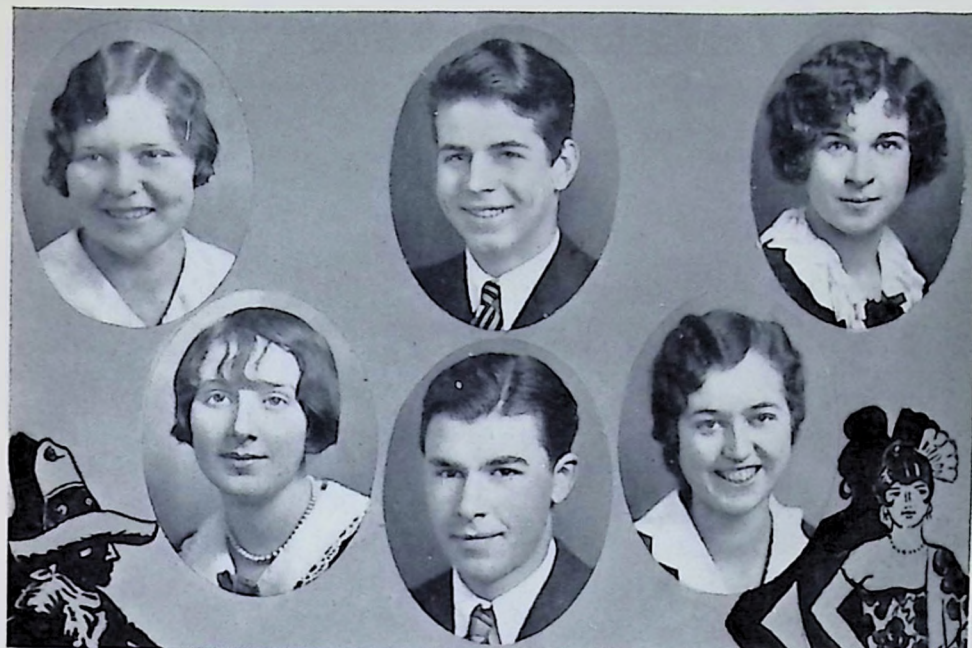

HIGH SCHOOL LEADERS CONVENTION

The University of Washington was host to the annual High School Leaders on November 14, 15, and 16. Five hundred students were in attendance.

The delegates from Edmonds were: Girls' Club—Vesta Lost, Nancy Mason, Beate Gyldenfeldt and Florence Davis. Annual—Clara Pennock. Journalism—Thomas Scanlon, Ina Palko and Audrey Engels. Board of Control—Frank Gruber, Arthur Pennock. Boys' Club—Jack Finley. Torch—Joe Harper.

The 1930 Echo is the fifth edition to resound the memories of Edmonds High School. The Spanish motif was selected as a result of the interest created by a study of the Spanish language and customs in our school curriculum. Two classes of Spanish have been taught each year for the past four years, thus creating a large number of students with Spanish interests. The Spanish features and distinctive color are new in the history of the Echo. The cover is of school colors, and the colored insert pages are hand-painted. Pearl Murie and a staff of artists deserve a great deal of credit for this improvement.

This year's edition is the first to be published by the Student Body. The Senior class had edited the four previous books.

The staff was selected from the student body, and under the leadership and loving influence of Miss Jones and Mrs. Murphy, has cooperated every effort to make a worthwhile book.

The annual drive was started by an entertaining and enthusiastic assembly. An extensive sales and advertising campaign followed. The staff also took complete charge of the March 21st edition of the "Wireless" in the interest of the "Echo."

The Wireless

The "Wireless" has for its chief motive, the presentation, without prejudice or biased opinions, of items of interest in the school and town. However, it does other important things. Wireless keeps the various activities of the school in close relationship with each other. Under the capable and friendly guidance of Mrs. Grace Bliss, the "Wireless" has brought another successful year to an end.

It is the policy of the editor to require each member of the journalism class to be editor for one issue of the "Wireless." Every student is thus given responsibility for putting out one complete paper.

It is also the policy of the Wireless to permit activities like Annual, Torch, Senior Class, and others so desiring, to take over one issue. Special editions like the all-joke number "Froth and Foam", the Christmas number, the Spring Poetry number, add interest to the publication.

The Wireless consists of page three of the Tribune-Review, Fridays; news stories are due not later than Tuesday noon. The paper published on Thursday is delivered to subscribers Friday.

Thomas Scanlon is the editor of the Wireless for the year 1929-1930; Audrey Engels is business manager. The rest of the staff, made up chiefly from members of journalism class, is changed whenever advisable.

The Wireless ranks well among high school publications, both because of its business-like appearance which is like that of a regular sheet of newspaper, and because of the quality of copy.

In the brief period of three years that the Torch has been in existence in Edmonds High School, the number of its members has increased to a gratifying extent. This year there are five Torch bearing Seniors, who may hope to qualify to retain their pins permanently, sixteen wearers of two-bar pins, most of whom are Juniors, and twenty-four wearers of one-bar pins, most of whom are Sophomores.

The Torch has been very active in the activities of the school. The members usher at the plays, the operetta, and the graduation exercises. They edited the November issue of the TORCH LIGHT and produced a very interesting paper. This year, as a major social function, they had a supper party instead of a banquet. The supper was served in the home economics room and there was dancing in the gymnasium, with special stunts.

This year the Torch plans something in the nature of a service gift which will be of use to the whole school.

The Board of Control consists of the four Student Body officers, two representatives from each of the Senior high school classes, and one representative from each of the Junior high school classes.

The Board of Control manages the school's business pertaining to the Student Body, exclusive of that of the individual classes. Meetings are held regularly, once every two weeks, and special meetings are called together by the president whenever important business must be attended to at once.

Mrs. Murphy, Miss Jones and Mr. Milam acted as advisors during the school year.

Representatives from different classes are as follows: Seniors—Dorothea Goetz and Thomas Scanlon; Juniors—Evelyn Fox and Donald Maxwell; Sophomores—Spencer Records and Joe Davis; Freshmen—Dorothy Cooley and Evelyn Kronquist; Eighth grade—Alice Howell; Seventh grade—Richard Murphy.

Plans were immediately made, and under the supervision of Mr. Hatch, Mr. Goble, Mr. Jacobson and Mr. Chase, Dads' Nite was put over with huge success.

Thanksgiving the Boys' Club furnished the transportation for the delivery of the Thanksgiving baskets.

The second semester the Boys' Club was divided into two groups. The second high boys met in the study hall under the supervision of Mr. Hatch; the Junior high met in the 7th grade under the supervision of Mr. Crouch.

The Boys' Club next sponsored a dance which was given in the school gym. A net profit of $25 was made and this was given to the student body to pay for a hospital bill left over from the football season.

The Boys' Club turned out and after a week of labor finally erected the backstops on the tennis courts, which were torn down during a severe storm.

By means of a motion of the Boys' Club, extensive improvements were made in the gym. The seating capacity has been greatly enlarged.

"Each for all and all for each" and continually working toward a definite goal, the girls of Edmonds High School have been striving to measure up to that evanescent ideal, the dream of every girl—perfect womanhood—and to this end the girls have been inspired by their lovable advisor, Miss Jones.

The Girls' Club has been active in rendering helpful service to those in need, which consisted in giving baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

This year the Clubbe Shoppe and Rest Room were refurnished. The Girls' Club Code was attractively printed in the school colors and each girl is the proud possessor of one.

"The Junior Auxiliary" was organized this spring under the direction of Nicholas Mitchell and Kay Sudick of Garfield high school.

The social work of the club has been carried on through mixers and a Mothers' Day Tea. The tea was a success and was carried out in banquet style.

It is with sincere appreciation for the hearty cooperation of the girls and faculty of Edmonds High School that the present officers leave their positions and good wishes to their successors.

Operetta

"The Golden Trail" by Charles Wakefield Cadman, was presented in the high school auditorium, January 30 and 31. The operetta, which was a great success and entertained large audiences both nights, was made possible by the cooperation of a hard working staff and the able direction of Miss Carlson and Mrs. Bliss.

The large cast included a chorus of Spanish, Mexican and emigrant people. Leading roles were taken by Helen Howell, a Spanish girl, and Joe Harper, a daring pony express rider. Second leads were taken by Miles Hoff, who provided the comedy and Jesselyn Demmons, the Mexican dancer. Other principals were: Margaret Scanlon, Marion Duff, Audrey Engels, Spencer Records, Frederick Hedges, Donald Hareid, Louis Miller, Phil Allen, Beth Cady, Johnny Anderson, and Robert Howland.

A trio composed of Mrs. Meldrum, Mrs. Jacobson, and Thomas Scanlon accompanied the choruses.

The plot was woven around the Alvarado family jewels and the carrying of gold consignments, the time being the gold rush of California in 1849.

The Glee Clubs have done excellent work throughout the year. In addition to the operetta, they have been active in assembly and P.T. A. programs. They also entered the County Music Contest.

Orchestra

Bottom row: Glenn Stubbs, Betty Minish, May Allen, Rex Hanson, Violet Astell, Esther Harris, Carlton Cook.

Edmonds High School has been well represented in music. This year the school orchestra was very well organized. They are to be commended on their excellent work, under the able direction of Mrs. Meldrum.

The music for the Junior and Senior Plays was furnished by the orchestra. It also played at many of the assemblies held during the year.

While Mrs. Meldrum was ill, work was continued as usual, under the direction of Mrs. Jacobson.

Girls' Nonette

Jesselyn Demmons	Helen Howell	Marion Wiley
Wilma Low		Lala DeLand
Margaret Scanlon	Evelyn Fox	Mildred Kelly Marion Duff

The Girls' Nonette was organized last fall and is composed of nine girls selected from the Girls' Glee Club. A nonette was formed in place of the octet so that three-part music could be sung by the girls with all the parts balanced. The group is of a convenient size to work with ensemble music, and made its first appearance as a nonette at a meeting of the Music and Art Study Club.

The nonette, under the direction of Miss Carlson, has made several appearances during the year at school assemblies, Parent-Teacher association meetings, Music and Art Study Club meetings, and on a radio program.

The Whole Town's Talking

The Senior Class presented "The Whole Town's Talking" March 21. This hilarious comedy by John Emerson and Anita Loos proved very successful, due to the patient and competent coaching of Marjorie H. Murphy, the class advisor.

Thomas Scanlon took the part of Chester Binney, who goes through fire and water to win the hand of Ethel Simmons, Janice Meyer. The leads were well chosen and furnished incessant laughter. Second leads were the excellent portrayals of Henry Simmons by David Joyce and Harriet Simmons by Helen Conklin. Other characters were: Norman Nelson, the motion picture director, who was engaged to Letty Lythe, motion picture queen, Helene Walker; Roger Shields (Ralph Schoel) from Chicago and Paris; Lila Wilson (Vesta Yost) and Sally Otis (Helen Siegrist), friends of Ethel; Sadie Bloom (Beatrice Higley), Mr. Simmons' dancing teacher; Annie, (Mary Alice Drake); Mrs. Jackson, (Clara Pennock); and a taxi-driver, (Joe Irby. Marcella Huston, Ruth Bently, and Alice Kronquist, as extra girls, completed the cast.

Seventeen

"Seventeen", a four-act play adapted from Booth Tarkington's famous book, was presented by the Junior class in the auditorium April 25.

Willie Baxter, the seventeen year old hero of the play was well portrayed by Harry Bowen. Ina Palko as Lola Pratt, the baby-talking heroine, was also very good. Most of the laughs, however, were caused by Betty Ross' interpretation of Jane, Willie's eleven-year-old sister. Jesselyn Demmons as Mrs. Baxter, had a hard time to keep peace between Willie and Jane, and Willie and Mr. Baxter, played by Miles Hoff. Others in the cast were May Parcher, Lola's chum, played by Marion Duff; Johnny Watson, May's boy friend and Willie's pal, played by Edward Ballinger; Joe Bullit, the sarcasticest man in town, played by Arthur Beam. The part of the terrible-tempered Mr. Parcher was filled by John Terhune, while Robert Terhune played the part of the boastful bully, George Crooper. Mary Brooks and Wallie Banks, friends of May, were played by Doris Peterson and Donald Davenny. Beatrice Watkins admirably portrayed the part of Ethel Boke, a visiting girl, while the part of the colored servant, Genesis, was taken by Harry Tutmark.

The play was successfully coached by Mrs. Bliss, and proved very entertaining to a large audience.

Debate

Upper row: Negative Team—Clara Pennock, Ralph Schoel, Ina Palko.
Lower row: Affirmative Team—Margaret Burgess, Beatrice Watkins,

The 1929 football season was marked by enthusiasm and very good support. Several new opponents were on the schedule including Sequim, Port Angeles, and Bainbridge. The trip to Port Angeles was the longest, and though the game was lost by a lone touchdown, the squad enjoyed the trip to the Olympic Peninsula. The defeat of Monroe was a high point in the season and a triumph that has not been ours for several years.

Edmonds made many first downs this season by straight football. The tackle plays with Irby packing the ball, were consistent gainers. Allen averaged well on his punts and none were blocked after the third game.

Capt. Hovde at center played in a manner inspiring to his mates and was a bearcat on defense. Hoff's defensive end play was conspicuous, as time after time he stopped the opposition before the ball carrier could reach the line of scrimmage.

Those lost to the 1930 squad because of graduation are: Joyce, L. E.; Nelson, L. T.; Capt. Hovde, C.; Siegrist, Q. B.; Wiegand, H. B.; Irby F. B.

Coach Bieber expects a much better team next year because of the excellent material.

Basketball

The Edmonds Basketball Squad won first place in the "A" League, losing only one game. This year a new defense to Edmonds was used which proved very successful. In the county finals Everett defeated Edmonds by a hard fought game. The players lost to Edmonds this year are: Zach Allen, Phil Allen, Joe Irby, Ernest Siegrist, Arthur Wiegand, and Johnny Hovde. Next year Coach Bieber expects another very successful year.

Light Weight Basketball

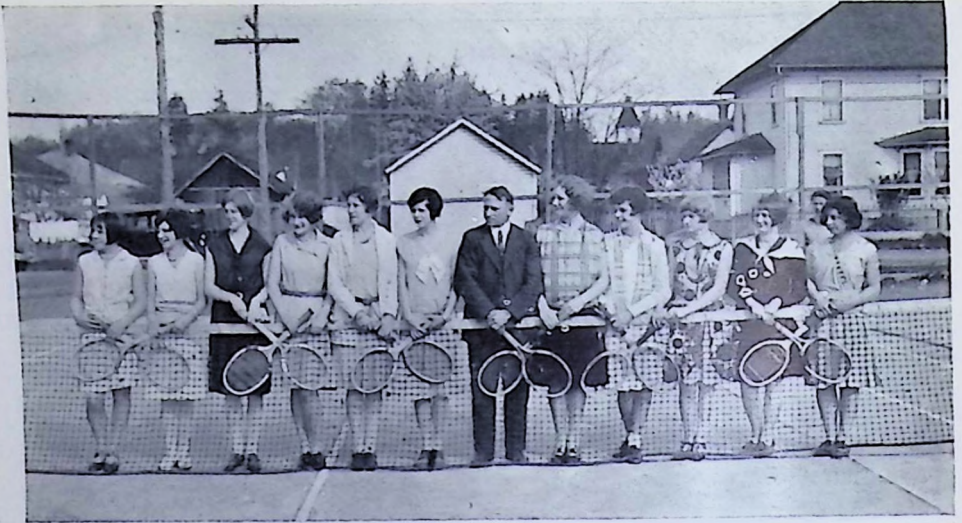

On October 1, a light weight basketball league was organized to enable boys too light for football to participate in fall athletics. The following schools entered the league: Snohomish, Marysville, Monroe, Sultan, Granite Falls, North Junior of Everett, and Edmonds. A regular schedule was drawn up and practice started. About twenty-five answered the first call for practice and from these the following team was chosen:

JOHN ANDERSON	Forward	WELDEN BOHNERT
WAYNE PERRY	Forward
JOE DAVIS	Center	FRED HEDGES
KNOX BELLINGHAM	Guard	HAROLD GERDON
HARRY TUTMARK	Guard	TORLIEF STENSON

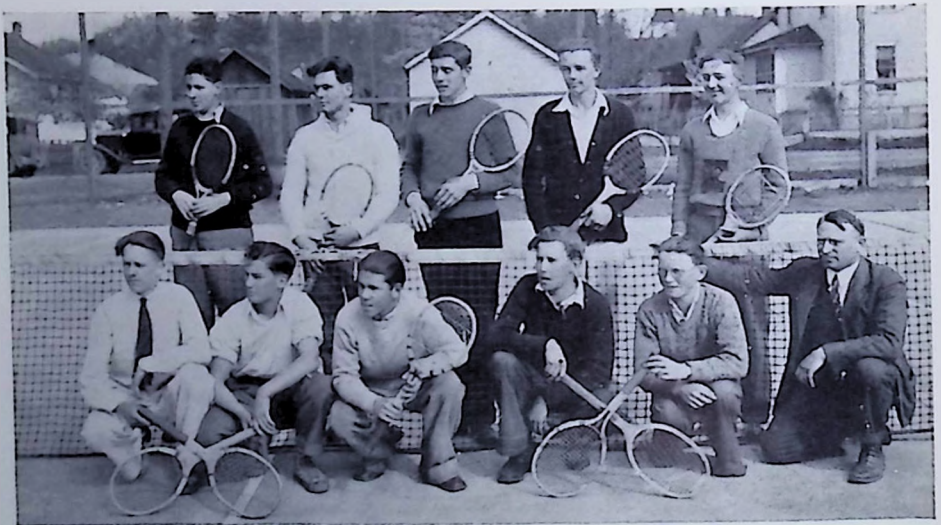

Emphasis was made from the start on team work and hard fighting. The team was very ably and well-coached by Mr. Charles Benson. The success of the season was felt both by coach and team and another light-weight team is looked for next year.

The schedule follows:

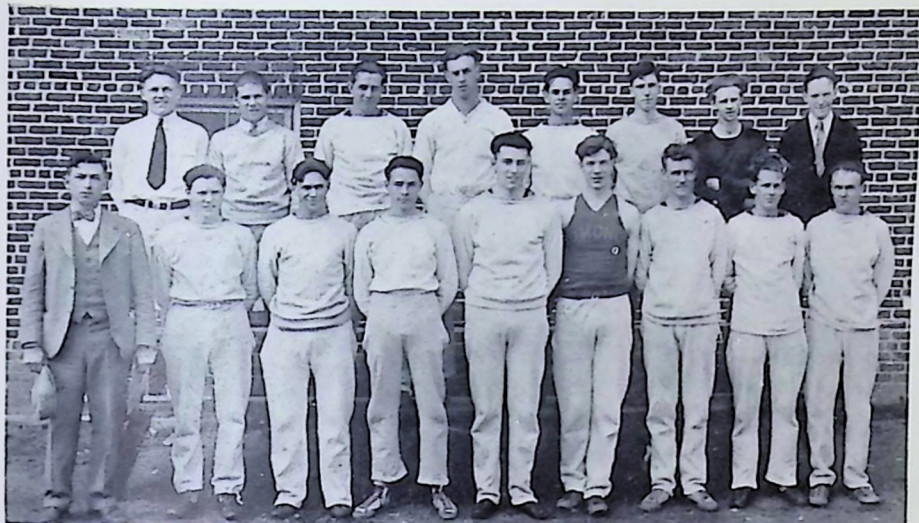

Edmonds 31—North Junior 7.
 Edmonds 12—Sultan 13.
 Edmonds—Marysville—Forfeited.
 Edmonds 27—Snohomish 6.
 Edmonds 25—Granite Falls 37.

Girls' Tennis

Boys' Tennis

Track

The 1929 schedule ran as follows:

Marysville in Class B meet.

Dual meet at Richmond Beach.

Dual meet at Monroe.

Triangular meet: Edmonds, Marysville and Richmond Beach.

The 1929 lettermen were Al Kronquist, captain; Phil Allen, Audrey Engels, Miles Hoff, John Terhune, Lawrence Hubbard, Mason Roe, and Norman Nelson.

The outstanding features of the 1929 track season was the one-half-mile relay team composed of Audrey Engels, Lawrence Hubbard, Phil Allen, and Al Kronquist. This quartet won three out of the four one-half relays entered.

The 1930 track season has opened with a victory for Edmonds over Marysville and Richmond Beach, forty-nine and one-half, forty-four, fourteen one-half. Engels and Bacon did well in the sprints; Nelson won the weight events, and as usual the, the one-half relay team came galloping in with a comfortable lead.

Stiff competition was met by Edmonds tracksters when they went to county B meet. They also met Richmond Beach in a dual meet

Girls' Athletics

The girls in athletics, under Mrs. Meldrum as coach, have made a good showing, many of the girls winning numerals and letters. Some of the girls participating at Sports' Days were placed on the all-star teams. Helen Conklin made the all star team in Volleyball and Basketball.

Mrs. Hallowell substituted for Mrs. Meldrum during her illness.

The girls started the point system in track, and each class was in the race for first place.

The managers for sports this year are:

Volley Ball	HELEN CONKLIN
Basketball	HELEN SIEGRIST
Baseball	MARY ALICE DRAKE
Track	HELEN CONKLIN
Tennis	HELEN SIEGRIST

The Sports' Days were held at:

Speedball	Snohomish
Volley Ball	Sultan
Baseball and Track	Snohomish
Basketball	Lake Stevens

ESTHER HOVDE	Secretary	ESTHER HOVDE
HOWARD WIEGAND	Treasurer	HOWARD WIEGAND

The seventh grade have had a very successful year. One candy sale and two pie sales were given, both of which helped the treasury remarkably.

The seventh and eighth grades had a Thanksgiving program. The plays were written by the students for English. One play was chosen from each grade. Erma Weller and Maureen McClellan wrote "Sambo's Thanksgiving Dinner" and Georgia Ryno wrote "A Quiet Thanksgiving." The program was very successful and enjoyed by all.

The seventh grade had a club called "The Seventh Grade Business Club" under the direction of the president.

The seventh grade was deeply grieved over the death of their beloved president, Oswald Hovde.

FAUROT

This was the first year Edmonds Jr. High has had a football team. We entered in the Snohomish County League and played two games with each of the following teams: Mukilteo, Monroe and Alderwood.

Although we had some difficulty with eligibility keeping our players on the team the first of the season, we made up for it the last half by defeating Monroe, tying Alderwood, and holding the county champs—Mukilteo—to a thrilling 12 to 7 game.

First Semester		Second Semester
HUGO ANDERSON	President	ERMA WELLER
STEVE YOST	Vice-president	DOUGLAS GILLIES
DOUGLAS GILLIES	Secretary-Treasurer	STEVE YOST
MAY ALLEN	Sergeant-at-Arms	GLENN STUBBS

Every eighth grader is proud to know that we helped to make the first operetta of the year a success. We gave the "Magic Nutcracker" with Maureen McClellan and Glenn Stubbs playing the leading roles. Thanksgiving and Christmas programs were given by the seventh and eighth grades together. As is customary, we expect to have our class picnic in the spring.

Erma Weller and Alice Howell were our Board of Control members. Maureen McClellan was our Girls' Club representative.

During Mrs. Meldrum's illness, Mrs. Hallowell of Seattle, took her place.

Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Meldrum were our roll room teachers.

Junior High Basketball

Edmonds "Baby Yellow Jackets" completed a fairly successful caging season by defeating their ancient rivals, Richmond Beach, by a score of 18-6.

The games this season were quite evenly distributed. The Babes winning 8 and losing 7, took third place in the Snohomish County League, Southern division. The season was characterized by a fine spirit on the squad and hard-fought games at home and abroad.

Most of the coaching time was spent in learning the fundamentals of the game, this being the Babes' first season of basketball. Next year the boys will be back to enter the County Class C League, and prospects are bright for a big season.

IN FRESHMAN ENGLISH

Mrs. Talbot: "I'm going to give this class a piece of my mind."

Voice from back of room: "Just a small helping, please."

Mrs. Bliss: What is curiosity?"

Urban Hoff: "Curiosity is the thing that makes a man smoke a car-load of cigarets to see if the manufacturers are not over-estimateing their claims."

Mr. Jacobson: A catalyst is something that aids in the completion of a reaction, but takes no active part in it. Can you illustrate, Arthur?"

Art P.: "Ycs sir, a glass egg."

Two biology students were out hunting specimens in the woods when one of them picked up a chestnut burr.

"Miss Carlson!" she called excitedly. "Come here!" I've found a porcupine egg."

Clip G.: "Zoup, sir? Zoup? Zoup?"

John Terhune: "I don't know what you're talking about."

Clip: "You know what hash is? Well, zoup is looser."
